Notary Public. THE MAY EXHIBIT IN DETAIL. Advertisers Who Hire Newspaper Space Have a Right to Know the Circulation!

The circulation exhibit in detail for June, is as follows:

FOR THE WEEK ENDED JUNE 7.... 60,585
FOR THE WEEK ENDED JUNE 14.... E9,185
FOR THE WEEK ENDED JUNE 21.... 59,695 FOR THE 2 DAYS ENDED JUNE 28.... 16,665

Total..... 255,555 Average per day for the 30 days, 8518 Gain since August, 1890....... 1805

The strike long since proved itself an utter failure. The boyoott is a weak malicious, impotent device of a very few selfash and irresponsible individuals. The Times defles it and them and continues to employ organized labor, paying thereto more in wages annually than any rival establishment. The business men of Los Angeles are counsoled to pay no attention to alien carpetbargers, professional anarchists and lawless enemies of their best interests.

We stand ready to exhibit to adver-tisers our circulation books and press-room reports, at any time, as a verification of the claims above. Our charges are fixed on only true basis, nar the only true basis, namely, the Cit-CULATION of THE TIMES, which is guaranteed to be double that of any local competitive journal.

FRANCE AND THE FAIR

The American Commissioners Well Received.

Their Hosts Promise to Make the Finest Exhibit Possible.

Gallic Jealousy of Undue Favor to Germans Allayed.

Separate Building Wanted for the French Art Display-A Liberal Appropriation to be Made.

By Telegraph to The Times.

PARIS, July 30.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] Architect Josiah sociated Press.] M. Favette, Chief S. Briean, for whom a warrant of arof the Ministry of Commerce and In- rest was issued by Magistrate Delvin dustries, grante the Chicago Fair several weeks ago, on a charge made commissioners a cordial interview to-day. He asked the commissioners Company of Braddock, Pa., of embeznumerous questions in regard to the zlement of stocks, etc., amounting to fair and received satisfactory replies. $33,600, appeared before the magis- factory results occurred in 45 per cent, He assured the commissioners that the position of France toward the World's Fair had never been doubted and that she was now more ardent than ever and her interests would be and that she was now more ardent than ever and her interests would be well represented. He said he had sed the most important examples of their works. They would need about 12,000 feet of wall space, and as the French interest in the exhibit would be so great, they would like to secure a separate building for French art display. In addition to the art space France desired 50,000 feet reserved for three months until her exact necessities could be determined. He had already secured most favorable terms from the steamship companies, namely: That freights be paid only one way. The exhibits would thus be returned free. Favette questioned the commissioners in regard to the report that American railroads had combined to charge excessive rates from New York to Chicago. Butterworth assured Favette that the report was untrue and showed him a telegram from the presi-dent of the exhibition officially stating that exhibits would be returned free of that exhibits would be returned free of freight charges.

Having satisfic "wette regarding the effective protection for patents and copyrights, fire risks on exhibits, the effect of American contract labor law on attendants and café and restaurant privileges, the deputation emphatically denied that any desire existed to favor German exhibitors at the express of German exhibitors at the expense of exhibitors of any other nations. Space had not yet been allotted, they said, and France could choose both the position and extent of hers. In concluding Favette expressed great pleasure at the interview, and appointed a meeting for Saturday to discuss details.

The deputation then visited Reil, the American Minister, who conducted them to the foreign office, Minister Ribot gave them a most cordial recep tion. He said he was pleased that France was the first nation to accept officially the invitation to take part in the fair, and was confident she would be splendidly represented. The chamber, he added, would be asked to vote an adequate appropriation for France's with Minister Reid this evening. M. Ribot and other French ministers were among the guests.

LONDON, July 30.—The Daily News says of the Columbian exhibition: "Chicago, under the critical eye of her rival, New York, must succeed, for she cannot afford to fail. Gladstone's remarkable letter points out the impor-tance of the scheme. There is no rea-son why he should not live to see America freed from the heaviest industrial fetters. That change is now imminent, or political sigus have lost their ordinary significance. The fair will have a further result in putting America in the rank of first-class

A MASONIC FEUD. Split in the Master Mason Lodge of the Buckeye State.
Columbus (O.,) July 30.—[By the Associated Press. | As a result of the feud in the Masonic fraternity of Ohio growing out of differences between the northern jurisdiction and Cerneaurite, there is a split in the Master Mason Grand Lodge. Masons identifled with the Cerneaus are under a ban. and this has culminated in the creation of the Grand Lodge of Ancient Free and Accepted Masons of Ohio, which today received a charter from the Secretary of State. An irrevocable clause in the constitution provides that this grand lodge shall recognize as Masonic no degrees in Masonry except entered apprentice, felloweraft and master mason, nor shall it recognize any body as Masonic which confers other than these three degrees. It will not, however, proscribe any one for having taken any of the so-called higher degrees. tion of the Grand Lodge of Ancient A PEPPERY REPLY.

year. The annuity was paid for a while, but for five years past no payments have been made.

The answer filed today denies that Pepper, Jr., was forced to leave Paris because of ill health, but says that his departure was owing to his misconduct with women. He agreed to pay his son flood a month in order to avoid a scandal. Payments were to continue his son f1000 a month in order to avoid a scandal. Payments were to continue during good behavior on condition that the money be used for the support of his wife and family. He learned, however, that his son had abandoned his wife and family and had gone off with a woman with whom he was living, and cousequently he ceased paying the allowance. The agreement was made solely for the support of young Pepper's family and not to support his son in a life of degradation.

Missions to be Reorganized-Social Reforms Urged.
ROME, July 30.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] The Holy See has just appointed an extraordinary commission of cardinals to reorganize the be prosecuted. Catholic missions. Two years ago Cardinal Simeoni prepared and communicated to the Pope a plan of re-forms in order to better regulate the les on the Deutsche Bank to the action of the Propaganda, but the coming of Gen. Simmons from England on a special mission to Pope Leo in reference to colonial questions, had the ef fect of postponing the execution of the projected reforms, as the Propaganda did not wish to awaken the idea that reforms were made in consequence of an arrangement with England. Any suspicion of such arrangement would have aroused the greatest jealousy in

Leo, who has always been in favor of missions taking a leading part in the work of colonization, has revived these projects of reform. The inquity of the commission of cardinals will, it is the question of social reform drop now that the Pope's encyclical has been published. It is stated that inquiries WALL STE are still being made and instructions sent to prelates of all countries to en-courage Cath what to do their utmost toward ameliorating the condition of the poor and effecting the social reforms urged in the encyclical.

> For several hours there have been whispers in Wall street about the credit of a great Anglo-American backing house. It has been understood in consequence of its connection with some outside enterprise that the house has been in a very shaky condition. The house in question is one of the oldest on Wall street and its foreign house is one of the largest banking houses of London. The first talk of it began some months aro, when bills of exchange of this house were discriminated against. Then about two or three weeks ago it was understood that the house was in trouble and another large house was helping it out. It was stated that by tomerrow it would be definitely known whether or not the house would pull through.

THE EAST SIDE.

Boy Badly injured by Failing from a Wagon. There came near being a killing on the East Side yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock. A ten-year-old boy named Lilly was play-ing on Downey avenue, near Wainut street, when he spied a team attached to a beavy wagon coming down the avenue. He chased the wagon a short distance when he succeeded in catching on and climbing up. He had only ridden a short distance when he attempted to get down and fell on his head.

Several people saw him fall, and as he did not get up at once they knew that he was hurt. When they reached him they found him in an unconscious condition, and it was thought the fall had killed him. He was taken home for dead, and medical aid was summoned. The physician went to work on him and soon brought him around, but the chances are that he will be laid up for some time, as his spine was badly injured. This habit of jumping on moving wagons and street cars is quite common among boys of his age on the East Side, and it is a wonder that several are not killed every week.

During the National Guard encampment at Santa Monica next month, the Boys' Brigade will visit the beach in a body and show the parior soldiers how to march.

Brigade will visit the beach in a body and show the parior soldiers now to march.

Miss Clara A. Best of No. 147 South Hancock street left for the East yesterday, to visit her sister in Iowa. Then she will go to her old home at Quincy, Ill.

The streets are getting more dusty as the summer advances, and if the city does not take some steps to keep them sprinkled the property-owners will have to wet them down by subscription.

Herald "Sensations."

Says the Stockton Mail of Tuesday last: The Los Angeles Herald has made a mistake, or a series of mistakes. Some time ago a member of the Mail staff wrote sketch concerning J. J. Stansbury and wife for this paper, and it was published a month or two ago; the Herald made the mistake of appropriating it for itself and running it under a display head of its own as quasi-local. In two places in the sketch the name of the Mail occurred; the Herald made the mistake of carefully cutting out the five mistake of carefully cutting out the five or six lines including all references to this or six lines including an references to this paper, as otherwise its appropriation would have been a failure. When the Mail republishes from the Herald or any other paper, it gives due credit instead of going out of it gives due credit instead of going out of its way to steal another newspaper's pro-duction; the Herald makes a mist ke in doing otherwise. Accidents may occur whereby the most decent paper may neglect a credit, but in that sort of an accident the name of the paper from which an article is taken is not carefully suppressed in the two places where it appears. The Herald's mistake was an intentional one.

THE KAWEAH COLONY.

The Scheme Said to be a Fraud.

MONEY SENT FROM THE EAST Some of the Tales by Which the People are Deluded—A Bad State of Affairs All Round.

From time to time more or less has appeared in the public press about the Kaweah colony, a c. operative scheme in Tulare county, organized on the national istic principles of Bellamy, and which its propoters have loudly proclaimed as the beginning of the millenium. Like the Eginning of the millenium. Like the beginning of the millenium of the moon if the wants to, but that is no sign he will out. And the proposition to build electric railroads at K. weah is the veriest moon if the colony are loud in their praises of the Output has all this According to the position occupied by those interviewed. Expending of the miliculum, Like the Kawesh colony have been very conflicting according to the position occupied by those interviewed. The men who are "booming" the colony are loud in their prates of the scheme, while those who have put money in the concern, and were them "frozen out," were equally as loud in their condemnation of it. Some months ago several of the leaders of the colony were tried in this city before Judge Ross on a charge of cutting timber on Government land, and were controlled the colony of the colony were tried in this city before Judge Ross on a charge of cutting timber on Government land, and were controlled the colony of the col

One colonist, now resident at K.weah, writes that the credit c rds are not available writes that the credit c rds are not available even for the m st ignoble uses to which paper can be put, and people holding them have been obliged to seek employment elsewhere, in order to prevent their loved ones from suffering actual want.

"Every member is detailed to that department for which his abilities best fit him," asys the letter in the Advertiser. How true this is, the experience of an educated, refined English gentleman, who was persuaded to enter the colony, will show. He had never done a day's manual labor in his life, was not adapted to it in any way, yet he was put to work with pick and shovel, crowbar and sledge-hammer, on road building through the rocks. With his money all paid over to the trustees of the colony and no means of providing for his family, he is now separated from them and is endeavoring to find means to take them from what one of the colonists in a letter to a friend in this city graphically describes as a "veritable hell-hole."

A great deal is said about the road which has been huilt by the and a keyength of the same of the colonists in a letter to a friend in this city graphically describes as a "veritable hell-hole."

this city graphically describes as a "veritable hell-hole."

A great deal is said about the road which has been built by the colouists, and which is said to have cost $100,000. As a matter of fact, the outside cost of the road was not $25,000, while of all the men who labored upon it not one is now left in the colony. Upon one pretext or another they have all been cut off or driven away in search of the actual necessaries of life.

It appears that the members of the eastern branch of the colony have been imposed upon with a yarn that some mythical "lumber trust" is endeavoring to cheat the colouists out of their lands, which have been made accessible by this road, and that this same trust is trying to break up the colony. There is, of course, not a word of truth in this. The lands claimed by the colonists, and upon which, by the way, they do not live, are within the limits of a reservation set apart by Congress in perpetuity, and upon which all timber is to be carefully preserved. There is no lumber trust about it at all.

The colonists have under plow, it is as-and upon which all timber is to be carefully pressived. There is no,lumber trust about it at all.

The colonists have under plow, it is asserted, "for hay and grain nearly 1000 acres, have planted a nursery of 10,000 fruit trees, 3000 forest trees, 6000 vines and 5000 orange trees. In addition to irrigation, fencing and constructing water works, they have built a 160-foot bridge over the Kaweah river." Altogether it is claimed $200,000 have been expended in the improvements now in existence upon the lands of the colony. With the exception of the bridge referred to, which has since collapsed, not one item in the foregoing is true, so it is said by the colonists themselves.

What the actual value of the colony property is may perhaps be gathered from the fact that nothing appears upon the assessment rold of Tulare county as belonging to it. They have no title to an acre of land, their road is valueless, and their "improvements" are such only in name. There is actually nothing for the tax gatherer to levy upon.

SHOT AT AN OFFICER.

The Cowardly Act of a Chinese Highbinder.

AN ATTEMPTED ASSASSINATION

Of Police Detective Auble by Charley Lee Kong, a Lottery Dealer -The Would-be Murderer Arrested.

binder named Charley Les Kong attempted to murder Police Detective Auble in China town. Auble was walking down Los An geles street, and as he passed Charley's lottery "office" at No. 151 Los Angeles street, the highbinder stepped to the door and fired point-blank at the officer's head with a 44-caliber six-shooter. The bullet only missed the intended victim's head by on the opposite side of the street.

an inch or two, and buried itself in the wall on the opposite side of the street.

Auble was so astonished that he could do nothing for a moment, and had it not been for Police Officer Johnson, who acted promptly in the matter, the chances are that the would-be murderer would have made good his escape. The heathen started out through the back door of the building in hot haste, but Johnson headed him off and placed him under arrest. The Chinaman still held the smoking pistol in his hand, and attempted to show fight, but Johnson was too quick for him, and soon disarmed him. He was taken to the police station and locked up, after a charge of assault to commit murder had been placed opposite his name on the prison register.

It was a narrow escape and shows what a desperate gang of highbinders are now holding forth in this city. The only motive the brute has for attempting to take an officer's life is that he has been arrested several times during the past few months for dealing in Chinese lottery. Auble has had it in for him for that reason.

Since the Wong Ark affair the high-binders have an idea that they can commit murder or any other crime in perfect safety so far as the courts and juries are concerned. They have been very lucky in escaping so far, and unless an examp e is set very soon no officer is safe in Chinatown.

Only a short time ago Officer Bevan, while going through one of the old gambling rooms, was shut in by a gang of the heathen, who managed to get the door closed before the officer knew what they were up to, when they set upon him and but for the vigorous manner in which he used his club the officer would have been severely beaten, even if he had escaped with his life. As it was hefought his way out and succeeded in arresting one of his assailants, who is now serving a term in the County Jail for the assault.

There are some forty or fifty highbinders in Chinatown at present, and since gambling has been suppressed, their only means of subsistence is by blackmailing the merchants. Business with these men is also very duil, and money is correspondingly scarce, so that the highbinders are getting desperate.

It is probable that the police force in Chinatown will be increased, in case there is any further hostile demonstration on the part of the heathen.

The Los Angeles police located them in that city, but the young couple slipped through their fingers. Detective James Russell of this city has been watching the case, and yesterday afternoon heard of a young lady inquiring at different hotels for Canton. Mr. Russell and his assistant, betteritied Joe Williams, at once set to work on the case, and after several hours' hard work Williams, located the girl in the house of a French family, about three miles from the city. It was nearly midnight when the detectives reached the house. The girl was very much surprised, but took the matter very coolly. She said she left her aunt's home because she was mistreated and that there had been nothing wrong between her and Canton. In order to dodge the Los Angeles police the couple had separated, Canton coming ahead to this city. Mr. Russell wired Chief Crowley of the arrest, who replied to hold the girl for instructions, Mr. Russell brought her to his house, where she now is. Canton has not been located.

AN EVENING OF MUSIC.

Mrs. Ackerman entertained about sixty guests last evening at her home at St. James Park, in honor of her guest, Miss Bowman of Brooklyn. The evening was devoted largely to music in recognition of the fact that Miss Bowman is an accomplished planiste herself, having received a liberal musical education at Stuttgart, Germany. The artistic interior of the house was rendered more charming by the judicious arrangement of potted plants and foliage. The vocalists who contributed to the enjoyment of the guests were Mmes. J. D. Cole, C. T. Parsons, Tohurst, Scott, Misses Hagan, Charlotte Burnett, Mollie Adella Brown, Dr. Buell and Mr. Dupuy. Miss Bowman, Mirs. Larrabee and Miss Susie Carter of Pasadena gave some fine plano selections.

At the conclusion of the musical programme, the guests turned their attention to social enjoyments. Punch and lemonade, lees and cakes were served during the evening.

Among the invited guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Charlee, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Capen, Dr. Dorothes Lummis, Dr. and Mrs. Buell, Mr. Ash Mrs. John Haynes, Miss Lansing, Miss Seymour, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Capen, Dr. Dorothes Lummis, Dr. and Mrs. Spenden, Mr. Garland, Mr. and Mrs. S. DENIES THE STORY.

farshal Gard's Vigorous Denunciation of a San Diego Report.

The San Diego Union is nothing if not original, and in its issue of yesterday morning it maintains its reputation for Munchausenism by publishing the following item:

"There is said to be a rapidly growing coolness between the United States Martic Attorney and the United States Marshal for the Southern District of California;

coolness between the United States District Attorney and the United States M.r. shal for the Southern District of Caiifornia; not exactly a you're-another sort of feeling, but something approaching it. It is all said to have been caused by the alleged order from the Marshal for the crew of the Itata to go asbore and rustle for their board and lodgirg; that Uncle Sam was not running a boarding house or something to the s. me effect.

"A Union reporter learned yesterday that the District Attorney had advised that the crew be notified to quit the vessel. That Marshal Gard had arrived in San Diego, wrote his order on a sheet of Horton House letter paper, and served it on Capt. Mann.zen. However, it appears that the captain has been learning a little American law himself, and asked Mr. Gard for his authority. That the vessel was no longer at the beck and call of the United States Marshal; that he was not expected to recognize Mr. G rd's handwriting, that the matter is now in the courts and it would take an order of the court underseal to take him off his vessel. Mr. Gard at once saw the force of the cfstain's reasoning and immediately put back to Los Angeles to inform the District Attorney 'that now you have played—"! The next information received was that Mr. Gard returned with a greatly modified order to the effect that the men might stay if they chose, but Uncle Sam would not 'feed or sleep' them."

The attention of Marshal Gard was called to the above article by a Times reporter yesterday, and, after reading it, that official denounced it as a misrepresentation of facts from beginning to end, and denied emphatically that it contained an atom of truth.

Marshal Gard announced yesterday that on and after Sunday next, August 2, the steamship Itata will be free to all comers between the hours of 2 o'clock and 6 o'clock p. m. every day, without special permits as heretofore.

SKIPPED TO MEXICO.

John A. Long's Departure from Los Angeles.

THE SEQUEL TO A DIVORCE SUIT

He Fled to Avoid Paying His Wife Allmony and Attorney's Fees-The Winona Lodginghouse Affair.

A few days ago Judge Smith made an order in the divorce suit of Mrs. Emma A. Long against John Long, ordering the defendant to pay into court the sum of $300 alimony and attorney's fees within a specifind time, but the defendant subsequently went into court and obtained an extension of time until yesterday morning at 10 o'clock. At that hour, however, his attorney, L. H. Valentine, Esq., appeared before Judge Smith and asked for a further appearance of time until 1.20 o'clock which extension of time until 1:30 o'clock, which

When the case was called at the afternoon session Attorney Valentine reluctantly an-nounced to the Court that his client was not to be found, and it was subsequently ascertained that Long had "skipped out."

ascertained that Long had "skipped out."
Upon this showing Judge Smith issued an order for the arrest of Long, citing him to appear and show cause why he should not be punished for contempt of court in not paying the money in accordance with the order of said court; but as the probabilities are that he is en route for Mexico, if he is not aiready there, the chances of his return in the near future are somewhat doubtful.

of the is not already there, the chances of his return in the near future are somewhat doubtful.

This is the second divorce case in which Long has figured, his first wife, by whom he had six children, having obtained a divorce and $5000 worth of property several years ago on the ground of adultery. She died in 1887, and on July 30, 1890, Long, who was then living in Linn county. Or., rem. tried his second wife, who was a dashing and remarkably handsome widow named Mrs. Emma A. Parker. Long purchased a fine farm near Albany, Or., and he and his wife lived on it very comfortably until the end of last August, when he suggested that they sell out and travel. She agreed, and they took a trip to Albany on business. At that time Long had in cash about $10,500, and heid two notes for $2500 each, and a mortgage in addition to his landed interests, which were considerable, so that he was a comparatively wealthy man. On September 1 last, he handed a railroad ticket to Portland to his wife, and giving her $9 for expenses en route, toid her to so to that piace, and after hiring nice rooms to let him know where she was, so that as soon as his business was settled up he could follow her, and after thiring nice rooms to let him know where she was, so that as soon as his business was settled up he could follow her, and after third him the country of the sound of the staying there a few days they would make a trip to Southern California. Mrs. Long obediently followed out her husband's instructions, but obtained no reply from him to her letter telling him where she was, and being thrown upon her own resourses, she maintained herself by dressmaking for several weeks until she received a letter from his daugnter, stating that a package was awaiting ner orders at Albany. This was sent to her at her request and she then found that it consisted of a lemon box, into which he entire wardrobe, which had been packed in Long's trunk, had been dumped and left by Long.

She subsequently ascertained that immediately after she left for Portland, Long disposed of the two notes and mortgage, and converting everything he could into cash, left for San Francisco with about $16,000 in his pocketbook. From there he went to Portland, but purposely avoided his wife, although she remained there, supporting herself until December 6, last, when she returned to her relatives at Burke, Idaho.

she returned to her relatives at Burke, Idaho.

While Long was in Portland he became enamored of Lulu Dumont, a "beer, slinger" at a variety theater there, and on January 12 last brought her to this city, and established her as landiady of the Winoms lodging-house on Temple street.

In February, however, the Dumont woman had him arrested for threatening to kill her, and Long then brought suit against her to recover $3000 which he claimed to have advanced to her, the circumstances of which cases were published against her to recover $5000 which he claimed to have advanced to her, the circumstances of which cases were published fully at that time. While this trouble was pending Long telegraphed to his wife, asking her to come out here and live with him again, but she declined usless he could satisfactorily explain his conduct in leaving her destitute and sick in Portland. He promised to do so; but subsequently wrote and told her that he was thinking of going to Mexico and suggested that she had better get a divorce.

Acting on this suggestion she came out here and suit was commenced on the 22d inst, by her attorneys, Messrs. Adams and Mitchell, who will use every effort to insure the return of the recalcitrant husband.

The grounds upon which Mrs. Long asks for a judicial separation are adultery, desertion and failures to provide. She further asks alimony in the sum of $150 per insonth, for $555 liabilities necessarily incurred for her support since September 1, 1890, and for $3166.66 damages.

THE PEOPLE'S BANK. The Run Came to an End Tuesday-

The Examiners' Report.
The run on the People's Home Savings
Bank of San Francisco came to an end Tuesday, and at the closing hour on that day bullness was proceeding as usual. The Chronicus of Wednesday says:

"The exciting scenes attending the run on the People's Home Saying Bank on Monday and Saying Bank on Monday Saying Bank on Monday Saying Say

Monday were not repeated yesterday, and so far as appearances indicate the business of the bank has resumed its normal condition. Throughout the day, however there were from half a dozen to twenty people at the counter, some few making deposits, others asking questions as if to satisfy themselves as to the bank's condition before withdrawing their deposits and others closing their accounts and either getting their money or giving the necessary notice, according to the amount of their deposits. That the run is over is evidenced by the fact that only one paying teller attended to the wants of all applicants yesterday, in place of the three tellers required on the previous day. There was no crowd about the doors and the necessity for admitting depositors by the back door no longer existed. The rear door was closed and all who desired to enter or leave did so by the front door.

"The bank commissioners resumed their examination of the bank's affairs yesterday morning. At the closing hour Commissioner Gerberding was asked; 'How long will the investigation of the affairs of the bank continue?"

"We are nearly through and will complete it this afternoon,' was his reality."

will the investigation of the affairs of the bank continue?"

"'We are nearly through and will complete it this afternoon,' was his reply.

"'Have you feund anything tending to impair the credit or soundness of the bank?"

"'We have not, but on the contrary we have found, after a most rigid examination, that the financial standing and condition of the bank are excellent. We examined with even more than ordinary care the character of the securities on which the bank has made loans, and we must say they are above the average. The best evidence of this is the very tew loans on which interest is in arrears.

the very rew loans on which interest is in arrears.

"When do you expect to make a report?"

"In a few days we will formulate our report and submit it to the Attorney-General. In that report we shall pronounce the bank safe and sound. I might as well say that in our examination of securities we did not even find one which we could not approve."

Mauager B. O. Carr stated that the deposits yesterday amounted to about $9000, while the withdrawals were about $35,000, or a trifle more than one-third of the sum taken out on the previous day. The total number of savings accounts withdrawn yesterday was 177, while thirty new savings accounts were received on old accounts.

"The transactions of the bank during Monday and yesterday may be summarized as follows: At the opening hour there was $91,000 on hand, of which $44,000 was a baiance at the close of business on Saturday, the remaining $237,000 having been brought up from the Pacific Bank. During the day nearly $93,000 was paid out and about $12,000 received, leaving a baiance of $10,000 on hand when the bank opened for business yesterday. The aggregate amount disbursed vesterday was $43,000, and the deposits amounted to about $9000, so that the bank closed with a cash' balance of $176,000 on hand besides a large sum in reserve at the Pacific Bank, which it was not necessary to draw upon."

THE QUAIL SEASON.

Vigorous Protest Against the Action of the San Berdoon Supervisors. The San Bernardine Board of Supervisors is liable to get itself in a scrape with the various gun clubs of the State. It has adopted an ordinance changing the opening of the quali season from October 1 to Aug-

The board says it has not only been informed by the best legal talent of their own county that their action is illegal, but they have also been informed by the Attorneycounty that their action is illegal, but they have also been informed by the Attorney-General of the State that the law under which they proposed to act has been repealed, yet in the face of this they pass the ordinance, which cannot help but mislead their fellow-men and cause them to be punished if any are so foolhardy as to proceed under this ruling. The Riverside Gun Club has already taken steps for the arrest and punishment of every person caught shooting quail prior to the first day of October. And tonight the sportsmen of Los Angeles hold a meeting at Judge Owens's courtroom for the purpose of organizing the strongest possible assistance for the Riverside boys. This meeting is called by the presidents of the three clubs of this city, with open doors to all lowers of law and game protection, and will undoubtedly be largely attended.

The proposition is to apply heroic treatment to meet the case. Men will be stationed on all the shooting grounds and every person found violating the State lawwill be arrested and prosecuted to the fullest extent. A case will be made that will lead to a suit for damages against the board and before they get through "monkeying with the buzzaw" they will learn that the combined forces of the Los Angeles and Riverside clubs is a power irresistible, especially when backed by the plain provisions of the statutes of the State.

CAUGHT THE THIEF.

EX-SHERIFF ROWLAND HAS NOT FORGOT HIS CUNNING.

How He Recovered a Fine Saddle and Bridle That Had Been Stolen at Puente.

Ex-Sheriff "Billy" Rowland has not yet forgotten the "tricks of the trade," judging from the clever manner in which he 'bagged" a thief yesterday. For some time past he has been in possession of a super-fine Mexican saddle and bridle, which he when not in use, were hung up in the stable behind his favorite horse at his Puente ranch. On Saturday morning. June 28, "Billy" sent one of his men out to the barn to saddle up his horse; but both saddle and bridle were missing and the man so reported to his employer. To think is to act with "Billy," and he at once cast about for a clew "Billy," and he at once cast about for a clew tas to the thief. He found it in a few minutes in the shape of the print of a naked foot under the nail where the saddle usually hung. This footprint was one of several which were traced to the road, a short distance from the barn, where there were unmistakable traces of a man having squatted down and put on his shoes. The trail from this spot to the Robles ranch was easily followed, as there were prints of a hole in the sole of the left shoe. On arrival at that place "Billy" examined the three men employed by Robles, and found that one of them, a Mexican named Feliz Rios, had a hole in the sole of his left shoe, which, upon investigation, fixed the prints of the trail to a nicety. "Billy" then took Rios back with him and found that his bare feet also fitted the tracks near the bara. With this proof against his man, "Billy" started into cross-examine Rios, whe, however, denied all knowledge of the theft, when "Billy" promised to let him go, provided the saddle and bridle were returned. After some further talk the Mexican was placed under arrest by his captor, but subsequently made his escape. Yesterday, however, "Billy" traced his saddle and bridle to San Bernardino, where Rios had sold it for a trifling sum, and the thief was located at Azusa, whence "Billy" brought him to this city. Rios was taken before Justice Stanton in the Township Court, yesterday, and, after arraignment upon the charge of grand larceny, was remanded to jall in default of bonds in the sum of $1000, to insure his appearance for examination on August 5 next. as to the thief. The Misuse of the Fan. "Talk about the early martyrs," said a lady, as she came out of a crowded con-cert room the other evening. "They are cert room the other evening. "They are absolutely nothing to me. Here I am just up from an attack of influenza, and I'll warrant myself to have another atsomething," and the speaker stopped to her throat.

"And she sat there by your side and waved one of those great, strong, gusty fans, creating a breeze like a young whirlwind, until you are all of a chill, I suppose," said her friend.

"Indeed, yes, and the more I pulled up my scarf the harder she fanned. There wasn't a vacant seat in the house or I would have taken it. I didn't like to ask her to stop, for she hadn't a specially inviting countenance. And I have taken a severe cold, for every bone in my body aches. I think there should be against fans in crowds, just as there is against canes and umbrellas in art gal-leries. You can mend statues or build more, but there isn't any remedy that I know of, when once we are dead from somebody's carelessness or indifference.

"But it is easy enough to use a fan so as to disturb no one; wave it gently forward and back, never from side to side. I see no reason why people should make their neighbors uncomfortable by such acts when a little sense and con-sideration would make every one comfortable. I think there are very few delicate persons who have not at some time in their lives suffered from the too vigorous waving of a fan in the vicinity. Indeed any one, however well, is seriously exposed to colds if on coming into an ssembly often quite heated from hurried walking, a current of air from a fan is directed across the neck and shoulders. I have made up my mind that one who is careless or enough to use a fan to my discomfort is a suitable subject for a reprimand, and that, then and there, she will get it."— New York Ledger.

A HAUNTED CONSCIENCE.

The Terrible Sensation That Follows the Taking of Human Life. "It is a dreadful thing that human life must be sacrificed," said Major C. O. Pates in the section of the control of the con Bates in the rotunda of the Lincoln hotel the other evening. There was an omi-nous look between him and Colonel Bob McReynolds as the latter spoke. Some-how it had just leaked out that there was some unwritten history as to the Nebraska miktia upon the frontier. A word or two of kindly condolence elicited the following from Colonel McReynolds, who has kept very silent heretofore.

"It was very nearly 3 o'clock when Major Bates and myself left Pine Ridge agency. All day Indians had been swarming about the agency like so many bees around a hive. Each one was bees around a hive. Each one was armed with a Winchester, and had on his person no less than 100 pounds of ammunition. The wildest excitement had prevailed all day, so that when we left the agency at that late hour en route to Rushville you can believe we were or

"From Pine Ridge the road led over a plain for nearly five miles. Then began the range of mountains known as Pine Ridge. The major and I had spurred our horses for a couple of miles out of the agency, then drew up into a walk. We were following a circuitous road that led over these Pine Ridge mountains, when suddenly from behind the rocks ahead there confronted us two Brule Sioux, with Winchesters ready for ac tion. Major Bates instantly uttered an alarm. This caused one of the enem Winchesters leveled upon us.

"I was fairly panicstricken myself, and scarcely knew what I was doing, but Major Bates, with his cool headedness, drew his Winchester to his shoulder and fired. The report echoed up and down the valley, and when the smoke cleared upon the brow of the little hill ahead. My horse, frightened at the report of the gun, was struggling in a frightful mangun, was struggling in a frightful manner, and it was all I could do to restrain him. Finally, when I got him quieted, I rode to Major Bates side. He was pale as a sheet of paper, yet firm and composed as a soldier should be. His first remark was, 'Oh, God, this is aw-

"The single shot from his Winchester had killed them both. They fell upon their faces, their hands tightly clenched about the weapons they bore, We looked for others, but none were in sight. Then I rode within a few feet of the bodies and picked up a war club. Their blankets and ghost shirts were swarming with vermin or I would have taken them along. The major divested one of the dead Indians of his war bonnet, placed his scalping knife in his belt and re-

The cold, snow covered hills, resplendent with their wintry beauty, brought naught but chill to the soul. Two forms, clad in their red blankets, lay silent in death. They meant harm to us who would not have harmed them. The winter's sun was fading beyond the chill blue hills.

"I rode from the spot and joined the major on the crest of a hill. His voice was husky in tone when he said, 'Let us get away from here.' The road led over a mountainous country for the next seven miles, then we came to the outposts of the Nebraska militia at Jarchow's ranch, where, after admission within the picket lines, we met General I. W. Colby, Colonel J. P. Bratt, of the First regiment, and Colonel J. C. Bills, of the Second. Major Bates here, true to his soldierly qualities, told of the fate of the two Brules. General Colby's face wore a vexed look when the affair was recounted. He seemed to think we should have waited until we were fired upon. Observing this, the major answered, 'I have done so, and this is my > Reprimanding His Own Son. A story is told of Dr. Clark Kendrick. On one occasion, in a high pew in the gallery of one of the old fashioned churches, some boys, during the time of worship, got to cracking and eating nuts. His keen eye perceived it, and that one of his own so He stopped, and with a countenance both grieved and vexed said, "D—, come and sit on the pulpit stairs and eat your nuts."-St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Mr. Preston, in a letter to Dr. Hertz the famous discoverer of electrical waves, points out that if the lines o force remain stationary while the mag net rotates, the magnet, being a conductor rotating in the field of its own lines, will become electrified and show positive electricity at one end and negative at the other. If, on the other hand, the lines move with the magnet, no such effect will take place. Dr. Hertz admits the force of this reasoning.

Old People.

J. V. S. is the only Sarsaparilla that old or feeble people should take, as the mineral potash which is in every other Sarsaparilla that we know of, is under certain conditions digestion and creates new blood, the very thing for old delicate or broken down people. It builds them up and prolongs their lives. A case in point:

Mrs. Belden an estimable and elderly lady of 510 Mason St., S. F. was for months declining so rapidly as to seriously alarm her family. It got so bad that she was finally afflicted with It got so bad that she was finally afflicted with fainting spells. She writes: "While in that dangerous condition I saw some of the testimonials concerning J. V. S. and sent for a bottle. That marked the turning point. I regained my lost flesh and atrength and have not felt so well in years." That was two years ago and Mrs. Belden is well and hearty to-day, and still taking J. V. S.

THE BEST BARGAIN EVER OFFERED IN SEWING MACHINES. A $45.00 SEWING MACHINE FOR $18.00.

INCLUDING ONE YEAR'S SUBSCRIPTION TO The Weekly Mirror.

We have made such arrangements as enable us to offer the Chicago Singer Sewing Machines to do perfect work, and run light and without noise.

The Chicago Singer Machine has a very important improvement in a Loose Balantowheel, so constructed as to permit winding bobbins without removing the work from the machine.

The Loose Balance Wheel is actuated by a solid bolt rassing through a colar securely pinned to the shaft outside of the balance wheel, which bolt is firmly held to position by a strong spiral spring. When a bobbin is to be wound, the bolt is puided out far enough to release the balance wheel, and thread slightly to the right or left, where it is held by a stop-pin until the bobbin is filled. Where the machine is liable to be meddled with by children, the bolt can be left out of the wheel when not in use, so that the machine can not be operated by the treadle.

The thread eyelet and the needle clamp are made self-threading, which is a very great Each Machine is Furnished with the Following Attachments:

FOOT HEMMER,
1 FOOT RUFFLER,
1 TUCKER,
1 PACKAGE OF NEEDLES,
1 CHECK SPRING,
1 THROAT PLATE,

6 HEMMERS, all different widths, 1 GAUGE, 1 GAUGE, 1 GAUGE, 1 THREAD CUTTER, 1 DAIL CAN, filled with oil, 1 INSTRUCTION BOOK,

The driving wheel on this machine is admitted to be the simplest, easiest running and most convenient of any. The machine is soif-threading, has the very best tension and thread liberator, is made of the best material, with the wearing parts hardened, and is finished in a superior style. It has veneered cover, foro-leaf table, 4 end drawers and centerswing drawer. The manufacturers warrant every machine for five years.

High Testimonials From Persons Using This Machine:

AFTER all, it may be that the covote hunters will have their trouble for nothing. A Sacramento dispatch states that the State Board of Examiners has had under consideration the payment of the bounty. The Governor was absent and a final determination was not reached, but it is very proba-ble that the board will hold that the law is unconstitutional on the grounds pointed out by the Attorney-General. THE GRANARY OF THE WORLD

The world-wide financial derangements of last fall have led to caution everywhere on the part of investors, both in Europe and the United States. The question is whether the collapse stage has run its course, so that we may expect an early return of activity. The one thing that prevents the revival of financial operations in the United States appears to be the uncertainty that still overhangs European finance. The outlook in this country is bright enough. On this subject Henry Clews, in his latest report, writes most hopefully, as follows:

Our agricultural crops, upon which nearly one-half of our population are directly de-pendent, afford upon the whole a promise of unparalleled results. The cotton crop pendent, afford upon the whole a promise of unparalieled results. The cotton crop seems likely to follow close upon the great volume of that of last year. The corn crop, so far, indicates a result beyond the average. And the output of wheat is likely to surpass all precedent. What quantity of wheat we shall export I leave to others to predict; what quantity we could export I leave to be inferred from the fact that, during the year ending July 1, 1891, we exported 106,000,000 bushels of wheat and flour, with a crop of 400,000,000 bushels, which was 140,000,000 bushels less than the probable crop of the present year; from which it may be inferred that our actual capacity for export out of this year's crowill be considerably over 200,000,000 bushels, in highest previous export having been 186,000,000 bushels in 1881. The average value of our annual exports of wheat and flour, for the last seven years, has been $108,000,000, the average export price (reducing the flour to wheat) having been $754 cents per bushel. Should the exports out of this crop reach 200,000,000 bushels in the export price average $1, the value of our shipments in 1891-92 would exceed by $92,000,000 the average yearly shipments of the past seven HUNDREDS of people have recently perished in floods in India, They fluctuate there between floods and famines, although the latter are becoming less frequent under British rule.

WATERMELONS.

If one will take a ride out on the Cahuenga Valley dummy road he will see where the watermelons come from. That road passes through hundreds of acres of these most delicious edibles. The ground is loaded with them, and vet it seems there are not too many for the market, for they still command a fair price. Tons and tons of them have been shipped to the East and North, and to the interior, but plenty of the best quality are left for the good people of Los Anwere about to dump tons of potatoes geles. It has been suggested that if the dummy line would stop fifteen minutes or so for refreshments in these melon patches on each trip, it would increase its patronage largely. These Cahuenga melon fields are worth a trip o see. The melons are planted after the last rains and grow entirely without irrigation. It is a mystery with some where all the water comes from that goes o make up these luscious globes, but there is no lack it, for the melons weigh all the way from twenty to 100 pounds, and nearly all of their substance i water. Watermelons are an excellent crop, when there are not so many of them as to destroy the market, and the Cahuenga Valley, that wonderful frostless belt, can produce any desired quantity of them.

> WHY CALIFORNIA CITIES GET POOR FRUIT.

A local horticulturist appears to in San Diego county, received $1000 have misread an article which recently San Diego paper with a good text from There was no intimation that fine fruit is not raised in California. On the contrary, that is the essence of the complaint, which is that the best fruit raised here goes East. Some of the finest fruit in the world is raised in this State, but it is frequently hard for the citizens of our large cities to obfrom the proceeds of one acre! Of tain any of the best quality at the retail stores. The papers of San Fran cisco and Sacramento have for weeks teemed with complaints on this sub ject, and it certainly cannot be claimed that the average assortment to be seen on the retail fruit stands of Los Angeles is a fair specimen of what Southern California can do.

As far as San Francisco is concerned, the reason why producers do not care to ship fine fruit there is explained in a letter from a grower published in Wednesday's Examiner. This man tells how, several years ago, he shipped a lot of extra choice peaches to the San Francisco market, which was the last shipment he ever made in that direction, for good reasons. The lobrought 25 cents a box-twenty-five pounds each-and when cost of box, freight, commission and drayage had picking and packing. He had had pay.-[Fresno Republican. nearly as undesirable experience before, and after looking thoroughly into the matter, and finding that his neighbors had the same complaints to make after each shipment, he decided to either sell his WE republish this morning a scathhe decided to either sell his ne prima facie evidence of rascal- per box. oranges. He was offered $1.50 a box on the trees, but having been solicited when in San Francisco to ship them to a commission firm in that city, thought he might get more by doing so. Hav-bought nearly $50 worth of wrapping paper, he hired men to clean and rape, wrap and pack the oranges, with great care. Then he waited for returns, which did not come, in spite of repeated regrets, and it was only after a personal visit to San Francisco that he received in payment a sum which netted him about two bits a box for his crop.

These are the reasons why fine fruit is not shipped to San Francisco and Sacramento for local consumption. Whether the same cause exists in Los Angeles some of our growers may be able to say. It is, in any case, a great pity that the very best fruit that California can raise should not be found on our stands firstly because it deprives our citizens of a luxury to which they have a right and for which they are willing to pay, and secondly because it gives strangers passing through a false impression of what we can raise. It is a fact which has been frequently commented on that finer California fruit can be purchased in the fruit steres of Chicago and New York than in those of San Francisco, Sacramento and Los Angeles. There is a gentleman in this city who, whenever he desires to gently represent our interests at Washington. Citizens of Southern California will consider it a pleasure as well as a duty and a privilege to see that Mr. Felton is thoroughly informed in regard to our needs and wishes, also that he obtains a comprehensive idea of our resources.

Tur new Chilean war vessel Errazuriz is having heaps of trouble in getting a crew, the insurgents, who evidently dread the arrival of the new vessels-and with cause-making every effort to induce European governments to forbid the enlistment of their subjects. STURDY BLOW 3 STRUCK.

Los Angeles Boycottera Raked Fore and Aft.

1From The Fraternity for July, 1891,1

Los Angeles, July 3.—Almost a year has passed since the difficulty between The Times and the union printers occurred. Every craftsman is familiar with the means employed by the Typographical Union to abate and settle all crievances between employer the Typographical Union to abate and settle all grievances between employer and employe—the strike and the boycott. In compliance with its laws and traditions, when the trouble occurred in The Times office the Typographical Union of Los Angeles ordered a strike and dictated a boycott. If the threats and intentions of the union could have effected their purpose, The Times long since would have been a union office. The irresponsible strikers and illiterate boycotters were bent on compelling the proprietors of The Times to kneel at the shrine of anarchy and atone for the shrine of anarchy and atone for fancied wrongs. The strike and the boycott were ruling factors by which labor agitators could, as by the touch labor agitators could, as by the touch of magic wands, cause remorseless earthquakes and shake the Sierra Madres. The Times was warned of an approaching doom. If The Times persisted in employing "scab" labor, subterranean fires would burst forth and consume its structure, "rats," "rodents" and all. But if the Times Company desired to continue the publication of their paper and protect the stockholders from financial ruin, dishoner and social extracism thay would bonor and social ostracism, they would be compelled to reinstate the strikers and boycotters. THE TIMES was an send his eastern friends a box of extra fine oranges, he forwards the order to Chicago. This should not be.

In accordance with the promises made by Senator Felton at the time of his election, he has arranged to visit Southern California about the middle of next month. coming to Los Angeles on the 17th, in order to gather information which will enable him to intelligently represent our interests at > port a candidate championed by a "scab sheet." It would be well for THE TIMES to consider its domineering and buildozing course, and restore the strikers before unionized labor forced the paper into bankruptcy and set the Pacific Ocean on fire. At the beginning of the strike the Typographical Union of Los Angeles discovered that its funds and forces were madequate to support the atrikers and carry on the boycott and appealed to the Federated Trades for assistance. The Federated Trades responded and placed "in charge" a runner and proressional rioter, who was given money and power to publish a scandalous blackmailing sheet and advertise the boycott. The first issue of the Work-man under the editorial direction of McGlynn was an epitome of lies, slan-der and personal abuse blended to-gether in language as nauseating and repulsive as that heard in the bagnio repulsive as that heard in the and pri-and in the slums. The public and pri-vate characters of the Fraternity printers employed on THE TIMES were published and thrust before the public were among the epithets that occurred in every issue of the Workman. Nor did the Workman stop here, but attempted to slur and bring into disrepute the characters of all those who patronized THE TIMES, and thus the populace was annoyed with the moral leprosy of the boycotters.

In the days of Rome the editor was he who introduced the gladiators as they entered the arena to fight the

When McGlynn took charge of the boycott in Los Angeles, he had under his command several puppets and emissaries whom he employed to assist him in his plundering intents and aid them fight the tigers. He brought to bear every conceivable scheme and plot to reinstate the union in The Times office, and the strikers had great faith in his work to bring about the desired result. For his services he has been well paid, and continues to draw a good salary for his appealed to The Times for restora-tion, and time and again have they been assured and promised that the Typographical Union will never find an abiding place inside the premises of The Times as long as the present management has power to di-rect its own business. Long since were the boycotters shorn of their coercive ideas and the ineffectual farce of the boycott in Los Augeles, but they have kept up appearances to squander subsidies and extort support from workmen who are silly enough to be-lieve that the strike and the boycott are the only means to adjust labor's difficulties.

The strikers have made the assertion that THE TIMES refused to arbitrate. Not until the strike and the boycott had proved failures did the union printers seek arbitration, and then THE TIMES denied them any consider-ation. Failing to force THE TIMES to employ them, the strikers asked THE TIMES for employment. THE TIMES retused.

It is the history of all strikes with a companionpiece of failure. The strike was wrong and uncalled for, and the boycott the worst kind of a failure. The personal abuse and lies of the Workman have been a detriment to the course the strikers have pursoned, and that it is not deserved? The case should not be permitted to rest where it is. A turther and more important question is: Will the voters of the State take this lesson to heart and select decent men to represent them in the next Legislature?

THE FAYLOR CASE.

The Late Legislature was a Den of Brib -takers. [San Francisco Examiner, July 29.1 The collapse of the Faylor trial is no surprise to the public. Few persons expected the case to be pushed as far as it has been. The common idea was that the suit was merely a bluff, and was never intended to be brought to trial. In carrying it to the point of putting on record evidence that convicts the Legislature of the crimes that eretofore have been matters of com non rumor but not of proof. Favlor has done much to atone for the unscrupulous part he has played on more occa-sions than one.

It may be that the testimony thus

But nobody who has read the evidence can doubt that the late Legislature was a den of bribe-takers, of whom Bruner and McCall were worthy representatives, that Col. Dan Burns was a wholesale and retail trafficker in votes, and that Phil Crimmins conducted the business of the late Ross Buckley et the old stand Crimmins conducted the business of the late Boss Buckley at the old stand, by the old methods, and with no-change of appurtenances except the substitution of a Republican for a Democratic sign.

The testimony of the plaintiff on these points was corroborated by that of other winesses, and the shifts resorted to by others who desired to escape telling the truth and did not like to take the risk of perjury were quite as significant as the frank admissions of these who were willing to missions of those who were willing to tell what they knew. The flight of Stephen T. Gage and Richard Chute may not be equilent to a confession in law, but it is in moral effect. There may be a mist over the exact point of contact between that $20,000 of Glenn-county money and the legislators who divided it, but that it went into legislative pockets is as certain as that the

When the Legislature was sized up When the Legislature was sized up on the first day of the late session the general opinion of competent critics was that it was one of the weakest assemblages of the kind that had ever gathered at Sacramento. After the first week it had pretty solidly established its reputation as without exception the most corrupt. From that time its character proceeded rapidly to me advanced stages of decomposition, and now this Faylor business has finished it.

The fact of membership in the Legis-

The fact of membership in the Legislature of 1891 has now become prima facie evidence of rascality, and any man wearing that brand and desiring to prove his right to associate with honest men would have to establish his character by affirmative evidence.

the lawmakers of one's own state, but it is literally true. And such things cannot be allowed to continue without fatally lowering the moral tone of the entire community. But before we repeat the familiar denunciations of the depravity of politicians, let us see what part our leading citizens had in in the disgraceful spectacle at Sacrain the disgraceful spectacle at Sacra-mento. Who put up the bribe money? Above all, who picked out the boodlers as suitable material for legislators, and in whose interest were they sent to the Capitol?

A TALK WITH QUAY. His Reasons for Resigning from the PHILADELPHIA, July 30.—By the Associated Press.] Senator Quay arrived here this evening. In an interview he spoke freely of his resignation from the Republican National Com-

"I was merely desirous of relinquishing the chairmanship," said he, "and in order to do that, it was necessary that I should withdraw was necessary that I should withdraw entirely from the committee. I had previously made several attempts to resign. I first made up my mind to withdraw on the Saturday night following the Presidential election of 1888. I was persuaded not to carry out my purpose then. In March of 1890, while in Florida, I wrote to Mr. Clarkson asking him to call the committee together to consider my resignation. Shortly after this attacks began on me, and of course I could not resign under fire. Recently I concluded the time had arrived when I could properly sever my connection with the committee, and I did.so."

ELGIN (Ill.,) July 30.—[By the Associated Press.] A horrible crime, for which the author will not suffer, occurred at the Northern Illinois Insane Senator Quay Gives His Reasons for Resigning from the National Republican Executive Committee.

By Telegraph to The Times.

BALTIMORE, July 30.—[By the Associated Press.] Senator Gorman was not present at the State Democratic Convention today, but remained in Curred at the Northern Illinois Insane Hospital here today. Fireman George Lindsay had for a helper John Anderson, a quiet patient. They were in the coolhouse, no others being present, and the lunatic, possessed with a sudden madness, killed Lindsay with a heavy hammer. He was caught in the act of thrusting the unconscious and dying man into a furnace. Anderson is a man of 45, whose mania is of a religious nature, and in the six years since he came from Rockford he had never showed homicidal tendency. Clackamus county, and he went out on the headwaters of the Clackamas trapping with Peter Hansen, who lives in the same section. They had good luck for a while caught many minks, some fishers, and found a swamp and small lake where there were many beaver, and were getting many of them, when deep snow came on and about spoiled their trapping.

After a while the snow became so deep that they could hardly move around, and could not get out of the mountains at all. Then provisions ran short, and they had to rustle and try to kill something to eat. They went out on the lake one day and cut a hole through the ice to see if they could catch some trout, but did not get any. On their way home toward night, as they were crossing a little ravine on a fallen tree, Olsen slipped and fell near the roots of the tree and came down plump into a bear's den. The bear was very lively for an animal supposed to be asleep, and at once attacked him. He had a knife and a small hatchet in his belt, and he got out the hatchet and began to chop and yell. Hansen, who was behind, had a gun, but he was afraid to fire down in the dark for fear of killing his friend, and at length, drawing his knife, jumped down with him and the There was a lively time there for bear, a while, and the fur and clothing and flesh flew, but finally Hansen, who was the worst used up man of the two, managed to reach a vital spot with his knife. The bear keeled over and the two trap-pers keeled over also. They managed to make a little fire with some of the leaves and twigs from the bear's nest, and there was plenty of rags to bandage their wounds, for they were all rags. It was several days before they could crawl to their camp with a hunk of the bear's flesh, which had been their only food during their stay in the den. Olsen says he intends to go trapping again, but he never wants to meet another bear in his own den again. His partner, Hansen, is able to walk around and go down to the creek and catch a few trout and look after the beehives.-Portland Oregonian.

The water question has had the floor for several days past, but railroad affairs are again forging to the front, and the indications are that very interesting developments will follow.

Yesterday The Times reporter had interviews with three prominent gentlemen, representing as many important railroad projects. The information volunteered cannot fail to be of public interest, for the successful carrying out of any one or all of the universe of the foot of the consultance of the consultance in the proposed of the consultance in the proposed of the consultance in the propose of the consultance in the succession cannot be considered as damperous as his bark because in the public. The valiant Captain's bits will nate the council and the public. The valiant Captain's bits will be considered as damperous as his bark that the will have c public interest, for the successful carrying out of any one or all of the undertakings will prove of vast benefit, not only to Pasadena, but to Los Angeles and the entire surrounding geles and the entire surrounding country.

Of course, the proposed electric road from Los Angeles to Pasadena is what is chiefly agutating the public mind at present. Yesterday, in Los Angeles, the reporter looked up Capt. Cross. the reporter looked up Capt. Cross. "You can count on the road being a country."

On the an appropriate of Pasadena, have been chosen to make arrangements for the Redondo tennis tournament, which will open on Wednesday, August 12, and continue until the following Saturday. Pasadena is whether the Redondo tennis tournament, which will open on Wednesday, August 12, and continue until the following saturday. Pasadena is whether the Redondo tennis tournament, which will open on Wednesday, August 12, and continue until the following saturday. Pasadena is what is chiefly agutating the proposed electric road the reporter looked to proposed electric road electric road to proposed electric road to proposed electric roa present. Yesterday, in Los Angeles, the reporter looked up Capt. Cross. "You can count on the road being a sure thing," said the Captain. "It is backed by bigger men than myself—men who mean business. What we propose to do as soon as the necessary right-of-way and tranchises can be obtained, is to build an electric road, on which we will transport passengers from the Plaza in Los Angeles to the center of Pasadena in as quick time center of Pasadena in as quick time as the trip can now be made in. The trains will be run at short intervals, the fare will be low, there will be no the fare will be low, there will be no smoke, and we will capture the bulk of the local travel. The matter will be presented to your City Council on Saturday. One of the features which will appeal most strongly to the public will be direct transportation to the center of Los Angeles, within easy walking distance of the principal business houses and places of interest. Oh, yes, the road will be a go, and it is needless for me to point out now the many advantages that Pasadena will derive from it."

Few of our citizens have interested themselves to such an extent in mountain roads as has Judge H. W. Magee, president of the San Gabriel Valley Bank. He is a member of the advisory board of the Pasadena and Mt. Wilson Railroad, and is one of the largest stockholders in the Mt. Wilson Toll-road Company, of which latter organ zation he is the president.

The Times reporter called upon him to obtain his views upon this important subject, on which he is so well fitted to speak. The Judge said: "I will briefly define my position. Some montus ago Prof. Lowe asked me to serve as a member of the advisory board of the Mt. Wilson Railroad Company and I consented to do so. I, tain roads as has Judge H. W. Magee, ntied to speak. The Judge said: "I will briefly of fine my position. Some monus ago Prof. Lowe asked me to serve as a member of the advisory board of the Mt. Wilson Railroad Company and I consented to do so. I, bowever, never had any pecuniary interest in the organization. Later on the toil-road enterprise presented the little of the most of and I invested some money in it, believing that route to be the most feasible and practical way of reaching.

ease on a 10 per cent. grade, and which is much more economic than electric-ity, and he advised me in widening the toll road to a wagon road to construct the switchbacks with a view to the construction of such a system. That is as far as the matter has gone, but it is not improbable that the toll road will be constructed thus to provide for any possible emergencies."

No one has so closely identified himself in mountain railroad interests hereabouts as has Prof. T. S. C. Lowe. It was he who first brought the subject prominently before our people, and the organization of the Pasadena and Mt. Wilson Railroad Company, of which corporation he is president, is due in a large measure to his untiring diligence and firm faith in the work, and his large financial backing. Prof. Lowe told the reporter yesterday that while there is nothing new to say on the subject, matters are progressing hereabouts as has Prof. T. S. C. Lowe. while there is nothing new to say on the subject, matters are progressing satisfactorily. He explained that in an undertaking of such magnitude—the preliminary work is necessarily slow. All sorts of contracts must be made, a large number of persons interested, etc. This having been accomplished, the actual work of construction will occupy a comparatively short time.

that the death of Mrs. Hopkins-Searles will in no way affect the management or policy in no way affect the management or policy of the Southern Pacific Railroad properties, although Mrs. Searles was a very large hoider of Southern Pacific stock. The impression has prevailed that a combination of interests has been formed by Mr. Huntington and Mrs. Searles as against Senator Stanford and his friends. Mr. Huntington says such is not the case. "There are no differences of opinion on matters of business between Mr. Stanford and myself," said he. "There is no clashing of interests in the management of the company's affairs, and everything will go right along as usual. We have all recognized the fact that we could not stay here forever, and provision was made a long time ago for the perpetuation of the management should any one of us be stricken down. Now that Mrs. Searles has gone, her stock will not be infinical to the interests of the other holders. As for getting up a strife over the control of the road, I can say that no one person controls the Southern Facific system. I am intrusted with its management and the owners are satisfied. I would very gledily let somebody else take the roins if I could find a man competent to do the work."

Mrs. Rheinstein is the proprietess of the Clifton House, on the corner of Broadway and Temple streets, while Miss Alexander runs the dining-room in connection with that house. From the tale of woo related by the latter at the District Attorney's office, it appears that the friendly relations which have hitherto been maintained between the two women became somewhat strained owing to an altercation which arose between them yesterday morning, and the difficulty reached a climax when Mrs. Rheinstein ordered the younger woman to leave the house, and threatened to lock up the diningroom. Miss Alexander being somewhat high-spirited, defied the lodging-house keeper, and the latter then denounced Miss Eva as a thief, adding that her obstracter was not as good as it ought to be. This naturally aroused Miss Eva's ire, and she insisted that Mrs. Rheinstein prove her assertions. The latter readily replied that she had lost $20 a few days before and intimated that she now knew who took it. At this juncture Miss Eva's monther put in an appearance and joined forces with her injured daughter, but Mrs. Rheinstein finally beat a retreat, when the victors left the house and called at the District Attorney's office. Shortly afterward Miss Eva's big brother Philip came home, and the outrage perpenared upon that young woman was or course related to him. He naturally felt aggreeved and he want to Mrs. Rheinstein and proceeded to give her a piece of his mind on the subject. The result was that Mrs. Rheinstein also called at the District Attorney's effect and obtained a complaint against Pisap Alexander, charging him with having orsturbed her peace. What the outcome of me matter will be is a difficult matter to predect; but it is certain that the end is not yet.

I had been sick five months, paid out large sums of money for doctors and medicine but derived no benefit. Dr. Wong Him was recommended to me by a friend. I did not think I could get well, as my lungs and kidneys were very bad and getting worse all the time. Dr. Wong Him took me in this condition; he has in two months' time entirely cured me, and now I feel it my duty to testify in his be-

They are Man and Wife. A morning contemporary has made con siderable fuss over the Mee Lee Chinese abduction case, and looking forward to the trial with considerable interest. They will probably be surprised when they learn that probably be surprised when they learn that the Mee Lee and her lover, Ah Yuen, are now man and wife, and are probably in Portland, Or., by this time. A license was issued last Tuesday at the request of Mrs. Watson, who had the girl in charge, and as soon as they were married they started for Portland. The matter was kept quiet for the reason that Mrs. Watson claimed to be afraid that the highbinders, who wanted to get possession of the girl, would do her some harm if they learned that she had outwitted them.

Dr. Ching Lee Di,

The eminent physician and surgeon is now located at 768 Lyon street, where he will be pleased to see all persons afflicted with disease. After consultation will tell them whether he can cure them or not. When he guarantees a cure he is always successful, and therefore people afflicted can rest assured of being benefited. He will examine all patients free of charge, guarantee to cure all diseases, and if not will return all money.

Mrs. Las gives testimony that the doctor has cured her of heart treuble, k'dney disease and female weakness after having doctored with many of our city physicians fer three years, and takes great pleasure in recommending the doctor to all afflicted persons.
